

Salesforce Integration and Customization Outsourcing

salesforce

We have extensive experience in Salesforce customization, and force.com development and integration. Our areas of expertise include, but not limited to:

- › Visualforce Pages
- › API
- › Apex language
- › Mass Data Import and Export

We are intimate with salesforce in a manner that is vital for developing customized solutions for Salesforce or even modifying existing Salesforce behavior to suit your company's needs.

Salesforce Integration

Force.com dramatically reduces the effort to integrate with either on-premises applications including Microsoft, Oracle, SAP, or other third-party solutions and external cloud services such as Amazon Web Services, Facebook, Google AppEngine, and Twitter etc. More than half of all traffic on the Force.com platform is system-to-system integration, making it the most trusted and successful enterprise API in the market.

Salesforce Customization

Salesforce provides two methods of customization: [1] point-and-click, and [2] with code. Here's what salesforce has to say on the subject:

"At salesforce.com, we don't accept that customization means compromise. The Force.com platform offers tools for "no compromise customizations," to make it possible to create both fast and easy customizations, as well as deep customizations to meet just about any need. Based on a philosophy of keeping simple things simple and making complex things both possible and accessible, the Force.com platform provides two paths to customization success. Regardless of which path you choose - and many of our customers choose both - your customizations will be automatically upgraded when we upgrade our applications, with absolutely no effort on your part."
